The climated is not in every respect the baliniest known, but there seems to be something in it that braces the intellectuals yand from lumbering to statesmanship there are few things worth doing that are not done well in Maine."

Senator Stierman replying to a letter Blankbook Mf g., discussing the advisability of retiring

the greenback; says:

I I if not asympathly; with the move-ment proposed to refer United States potes from circulation. I believe it is easy to, maintain a limited amount of these is circulation, without danger or difficulty. The maintainers. difficulty. Senator Hill and Prof. Bateman seem to be in accord in their 10-t mortem views. Senator Hall 1838 Bryan is dead politically beyond resurrection and B (tgman says he is as dead as Julius Chelar It is perhaps nigdless to say that Prof. Bateman endorses the lifex of accomplete separation from the Democratic party. He declares that there was no singerly in the Democratic prophers in the recond campaign. The Democrate, he taye, saw, that the destruction of their party was at hand and they athle some of the Popullsts' thunder in the hope of gelning a mnew clock on the offices." So far as Bryan is concerned, thu, Maine Popullat says " sa n muc', as a statesman, as an crater and as a politician he has been vastly overrated," and "the Popullata will have nothing more to do with him or his issue." Now that the "obligations of the campalga, are, removed Bryan is in a fair way to leave what a small figire lie cuts even in the eathmation of those who supported blue.

According to the statement of the Louisville Courier-Journal, an authority on such matters, the two counties of Kentucky in which the most extensive frauds were perpetrated at the late election were Union and Owen. Union county is in the western portion of the State on the Ohlo river. Owen county is in the northern part of the State, to the east of Louisville. Union county was returned as giving Bryan 900 more votes than the Democratic electoral ticket recelved in 1802, and in Owen county the gain was put at 800; Unlou county is a Democratic county so strong that the change of a thousand or more votes would make practically no difference in the result. Owen county is in the district in which Col. Breckinridge was an unsaccessful candidate. The district was close and the Democratic majority in Owen was larger than the Democratic majorly in the other counties. Major Mokinhy's plurality in Kentucky was 281 votes. The total vote of the Sixte was 443,000, 100,000 more votes than were cast at the election of four years ago for President.
